Celebrating Black Inventors for Black History Month

While Black history should always be recognized and shared every day, for Black History Month, we'd like to give thanks and highlight the many generations of African American inventors and their groundbreaking discoveries that changed the world. Thanks to their contributions, which paved the way for scientific discovery and tech innovations, we saw our daily lives improve throughout the years with everyday inventions.

Madam C.J. Walker
self-made millionaire and inventor of the Walker system of hair care

Born in 1867 as Sarah Breedlove, Madam C.J. Walker was America's FIRST female self-made millionaire. In 1905, she invented Madam Walker's Wonderful Hair Grower, which grew into a line of hair products and introduced a new system of hair care for African-American hair. She wasn't just a pioneer in the cosmetics industry, she was also a successful entrepreneur.

By 1913, Walker's business was earning $3,000 a month (over $50,000 in today's dollars). A lifelong philanthropist, she also focused her ing Black women in giving them the op-nancially independ-more about Madam watching Self Made, a on her life.
